Introduction

10 The University of Law (the University) recognises that central to this protocol is name and the quality of learning opportunities for students.

11 External Opportunities are provided by the Employability Service in order to help students gain practical experience in the legal sector.

12 Opportunities require the support of external organisations and members of the legal profession. Therefore the Employability Service has an obligation to arrange opportunities in a way that benefits University students whilst providing a professional standard of service to the public and working supportively with external organisations and members of the profession.

Responsibility for implementing this protocol

13 Ultimate responsibility for the development of clear and effective processes and procedures associated with the quality assurance and maintenance of standards of academic provision and overseeing their application lies with the Academic Board.

14 All parties involved have responsibilities to ensure that opportunities run smoothly and in accordance with relevant policies and legislation. In particular, there are health and safety, equality, confidentiality and conduct obligations on all parties.

External Opportunities (Placements) Protocol

Opportunities take place, have relevant policies and protocols in place which evidence this commitment;

- 20.3 the Opportunity Organiser seeks information from potential Opportunity Providers necessary to assess the health and safety risks to students undertaking an External Opportunity. This information is likely to include, among other things: details of relevant insurance, Health and Safety policies and procedures, and information about the nature of the clients with whom students are likely to work;
- 20.4 as most External Opportunities arranged through the Employability Service are within the legal sector, there are additional regulatory issues addressed by the Opportunity Organiser when arranging the External Opportunity. These include the relevant skills, qualifications and experience required of students undertaking an External Opportunity, and the nature of any legal work students would undertake;
- 20.5 the status of the Opportunity Provider (as a charity, voluntary organisation, statutory body, company, etc.) as this may have an impact on the volunteer relationship with the Opportunity Provider and with the terms on which students can participate in an External Opportunity.
- 21 Based on the information acquired, the Opportunity Organiser produces an External Opportunity Protocol detailing the arrangements for the External Opportunity.

Recruitment for External Opportunities

22 In most cases, External Opportunities are advertised to students who volunteer or apply. Collection of applications and selection of candidates may be undertaken by the Employability Service or the Opportunity Provider; these responsibilities are agreed in advance. Where this is carried out by the Employability Service, it is undertaken in line with the Employability Service policy and protocols. Where collection of applications and selection of candidates is undertaken by the Opportunity Provider, the o Confidentiality policies govern the process.

Targeting groups

23 The Opportunity Organiser and the Opportunity Provider may decide that an External Opportunity is restricted to certain students. This may be due to the level of skill or knowledge required to undertake certain tasks or to actively tackle barriers to entry into the profession. In all cases, the final decision rests with the Opportunity Organiser and is made in light of the Employability Service policy and protocols.

29 During the application and selection stage, students must provide the Opportunity Organiser with information necessary to arrange the External Opportunity. Students who may require reasonable adjustment must speak to the Opportunity Organiser who, with the permission of the student, liaises with the Opportunity Provider.

30 At all times, the Employability Service adheres to its Equal Opportunity and Confidentiality protocols.

31 Students offered an External Opportunity are asked to sign an External Opportunities Agreement, outlining their responsibilities and in particular reminding them of their obligations to Professional Standards of Conduct, Confidentiality and Equal Opportunities. By signing the agreement and returning it to the Opportunity Organiser, the student is accepting their place on the External Opportunity. Once accepted onto an External Opportunity, and, in some instances which are made clear beforehand, certain contact details are passed to the Opportunity Provider to allow for the smooth operation of the External Opportunity.

32 Students receive information from the Employability Service concerning health and safety on External Opportunities. This is supplemented, where necessary, by inductions or training either by the Employability Service or the Opportunity Provider. Students have a responsibility for their own safety, must read any information provided and must attend inductions or training if arranged. During the course of the External Opportunity, students must act according to the information given, raise any concerns immediately with their Supervisor, and provide information to the Organiser.

33 After the completion of the External Opportunity, students are expected to provide feedback to the Opportunity Organiser on their experience. This feedback includes how useful the External Opportunity was and any concerns the student has. This is important information for the on-going review and evaluation of External Opportunities.
